International Journal of Human Rights in Healthcare (IJHRH) is an international, peer reviewed journal with a unique practical approach to promoting equality, inclusion and human rights in health and social care.

The journal publishes scholarly and double blind peer-reviewed papers of the highest standard, including case studies and book reviews. IJHRH aims include:

- To explore what is currently known about discrimination and disadvantage with a particular focus on health and social care
- Push the barriers of the equality discourse by identifying new avenues for practice and policy
- Create bridges between policymakers, practitioners and researchers
- Identify and understand the social determinants of health equity and practical interventions to overcome barriers.
